DROPS BACK AGAIN

FRIDAY'S DISSIPATION TOO MUCH FOR THE WHEAT MARKET.

It Breaks on Free Selling, Smal Export Clearances and Mild Weather, and Tumbles One Cent. Much to the Disgust of the Bulls Who Believe That the Time Has Come for It to Forge Upward, Rapidly.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.-Wheat again declined today, and May closed with I cent loss. Free selling, small export clearances, the mild weather and liberal receipts in the northwest were responsible for the weakness. A little buying caused a temporary reaction, but May closed only 1% cent inside figures. May corn closed 3% cent lower, May oats 1% cent lower and provisions lower all around.

Wheat opened weak and with greatly din ished activity as compared with the big busimess of the previous day. The starting price was at a decline of from 1/48% cent, the first transactions being at from 60% to 60% cents as compared with 61a61), cents at the end of yes-terday's markets. During the first hour and a half, which comprised the larger half of the short session, the range for May was inside of the limits of 60% cents to 60% cents and 60% cents. Some long wheat was sold out, and some short wheat covered, but there was not business enough to suggest that any change occurred in any important lines on either side of the market. The more conservative of the bulls recognize the necessity of patience, but there is a more radical element on that side of the market which would be disheartened by an advance of less than from 1 to 2 cents r bushel per day continuously and indefi-tely, and are correspondingly ready to take a desponding view of their prospects on any intermediate countermarching during the bull campaign. These latter were the sellers of long wheat this forenoon. The cables were not suggestive of more than a very lukewarm sympathy with the past two days' advance here. The weather was mild, with a warm wave in view. Liverpool was quoted firm at the opening, but closing easier.

Bradstreet's report gave the exports of wheat and floor from both coasts for the week at 1,730,500 bushels, compared with 2,005,000 bushels last week. The general expectation is that the Monday visible supply will show a decrease of 1,700,000 bushels. Comparing the difference in the relative receipts this week and a year ago, the decrease amounts to something over 2,000,000 bushels. New York sent the close to the control of the comparing the gover 2,000,000 bushels. New York sent the arise down again to 6000 cents at the close.

Corn was down again to 6000 cents at the close.

Corn was dull, the market ruling quiet and stagnant the entire session, prices keeping within fractional limits. An easier feeling prevailed, the market opening off 15 cent and Bradstreet's report gave the exports of wheat and floor from both coasts for the week at 1,730,500 bushels, compared with 2,005,000 prevailed, the market opening off 1g cent and sold down 1g cent the most all of which was due to the action in wheat. At the decline, the price held steady and the market closed with the price of May at the bottom figure In oats there was a moderate trade and an easier feeling due to sympathy with wheat and corn, and on prospects of an increased demand. Prices receded 14 cent and the market closed quiet at the inside.

Provisions were weak and lower, and easier rariy on the weakness in live hogs at the pards, the decline in wheat and free selling of pork by a prominent broker, and lard by a leading packing institution. The volume of trading was very light with no outside support. A moderate reaction in wheat, a little later on, was responsible for the market improving in the opening prices of the day. proving to the opening prices of the day. When wheat broke this market declined in sympathy below the inside prices of the day, and then rallied to a partial extent shortly before the end of the session on a little buy-ing. The market was an extremely narrow and featureless one, with pork and ribs closing steady and lard firm. Compared with last night. May pork is 716 cents lower. May

There is some evidence of more disposition to increase he size of orders reaching the market through tendency seen in the market for raw cotton, whereas some improvement had been generally expected, serves to make local traders ervative as to cotton goods, the market for which may be said to have a rather weak

Curcago, Feb. 24.-There was a small nor market was steady at Friday's quotations and all grades a little higher than at the close of last week. Receipts were estimated at 500, cenerally at about a nickle off from Friday's prices, the early market being quite weak, for that grade especially. Light and medium weights, anything weighing under 20 pounds For the previous week the total was 15,456, and a year ago 101,168. This month's receipts will reach 525,000 head, or 130,000 less than for February last year.

Receipts for sheep were about 1,500, making $6,500 for the week. This is nearly 11,000 more than arrived last week and 2,000 more than a Pear ago. The market was quiet and steady at $1,75a8.46 for poor to choice sheep, and $2.75a
